No Time To Die

Promote your business, reinforce your brand identity, reach over 80k potential customers per year, and support the arts with a Brewery Cinema advertisement.

With regularly targeted marketing platforms, and three large cinema screens, showing on average 180 films per month, Brewery Arts has an audience reach in excess of 300k people a year.

Cinema advertising is a cost-effective way to target new and existing customers.

Offer your business an affordable way to amplify a mixed-media ad campaign.

Your 30 second TV advert is played between trailers, before the national advertising and the feature film.

Film trailers are a big part of the pre-film experience and having your advert playing between the trailers means you have a captive and engaged audience.

"Did you know a 30 second video advert promoting your business on the cinema will be remembered far longer than advertising with any other medium alone. Why? Because Cinema audiences are receptive, engaged and more likely to create a buzz by word of mouth about your brand! And these people live and work right on your doorstep!" DIGITAL CINEMA MEDIA 2017
